

From our study of Job, I have learned that being patient is a great virtue.

No matter what the circumstances, putting your full faith and trust in God is the most important thing in our daily life.

In my own life one of my most traumatic experiences was when my husband suffered a stroke. Suddenly I was faced with numerous tasks, such as traveling back and forth to the hospital, being alone at night - which had always been frightening to me - and taking over the family finances.

When I was lonely and weary, this scripture always came to mind, "I will never burden you with more than you can bear."

What a wonderful promise!! God is good, all the time!

Thanks Jennifer for your love and devotion during our Journey through Job.